

O echard Milleams

Dedication

Because you have done so much for the students and the school, and because you have become a friend to all of us, we, the Seniors of 1962, proudly dedicate this annual to you.

hany Vinginia Solum

Foreword

We, the Senior Class of 1962, wish to present to the entire student body the 17th edition of "Memories".

We are hoping that in the years to come this book will help you remember and cherish the most wonderful years of your life.

IVAN AUGSBURGER
I think, therefore I am-now what?

ALLAN BARNES
God bless the man who invented sleep.

CAROL BROWN
You would think that knowledge is going out of style as much as we're forced to learn.

CATHY CARR
Don't just sit there--worry!

JANET CLARK
Patience is the best remedy for every trouble.

EDWARD CLOYD

It is not every question that deserves an answer.

LINDA COLLIER
I might be better if I could, but it's mighty lonesome being good.

BARBARA COOK
The word impossible is not in my dictionary.

GARY COOPER
The living proof that teachers earn their pay.

JULIE DEARING
There never was a saint with red hair.

LOWELL DRAGOO

The more you study the more you discover your ignorance.

GEORGE FINNEY
The advantages of wealth are greatly exaggerated.

MIKE HERRICK
My humor is my salvation.

LOUISE HOLLER

Do not turn back when you are just at the goal.

CAROL KENT
The South shall rise again!

LOIS KENT

My accomplishment is that I am happy.

DANNY KERR
If school is liberty,
give me death.

DENNIS KESTERSON They don't call me de Vinci for nothing.

OWEN LONEY
A little learning is a dangerous thing--I'm safe.

LYNNE MANN
Where words are scarce
you won't find me.

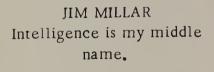

JIM McCALISTER

The world has yet to see its greatest man--I haven't been discovered.

BOB McCORD
Every man has his devilish moments.

MIKE MERCER
Did I lose my Civics book, or did I rent one?

JIM MILLER
I'm always stabbed with laughter.

EVELYN MOORE
To friends a friend.

BOB MORGAN
I can recognize a good curve when I see one.

STEVE NAVEL

It takes a wise man to know a wise man. Hey where did everyone go?

STEVE NELSON
Look out, Arnold Palmer.

NINA NELSON
Accidents will occur in the best of regulated families.

BOB NEWSOM

Most great men are dying,

I don't feel well myself.

JACK NORMAN
Speak to him ladies and see if you can move him.

JOE PARKE
Built like a mosquito, long and thin.

PAT PICKETT Worry and I have never met.

KAREN POLING
It's nice to be natural,
if you are naturally nice.

SUE POGUE Life is so short, and so am I.

CAROLYN PURCELL

If laughter made the world go round, how fast I'd be spinning.

LARRY REEDER
I spend six hours a day here; do you expect me to work too?

ROY REEDY

If books were wisdom;

he'd be a library.

MIKE ROOKSBERRY

Give me the girl; give me the moonlight; then leave the rest to me.

RUTH ANN ROSS Something attempted, something done.

SHIRLEY SHARER Her every tone is music's own.

GARY SHAY

It's not what you do that counts--it's what you get caught at.

ERIC SNOWDEN
I can't dance so hot but I sure can intermission.

ALICE STAGGS Someone's librarian she hopes to be.

MARVIN STEWART
There may be greater men than I, but I have yet to meet one.

NANCY SWAIM
Silence is golden-I'm bankrupt.

JIM TARTER
A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men.

ROHM THOMPSON
I worked out a little formula
in Chemistry-E=MC²

DON VAUGHT
I never dare to be as clever as I can.

PAM VANGILDER
I keep smiling; it makes people wonder what I've been up to.

JOHN WEAVER
Ambition is no cure for love!

JON WARDEN

If I don't understand it,

I oppose it.

BOB WHITE Girls, not grades, have been his aim.

Senior Class Prophecy

Here it is - - a warm day in May, 1972: As I drive to the Rockville High School for the reunion of the famous class of '62, I wonder what my classmates have been doing these ten years, for I have seen very few of them.

When I arrive on the grounds, I cannot find a parking space between all the limousines and Cadillacs (not to mention the private planes). Surely, I must be in the wrong place. But no, there is someone who looks familiar, although it is difficult to see her under that mink. Ah, she is turning this way. Well, well, if it isn't Joanne Shockley. I had heard of the great fame she achieved as an opera soprano, but somehow I wasn't expecting to see her today. Last time I heard of her she was in New York.

At last I am parked and enter the school to hang my coat 'midst the minks and ermines. After greeting everyone, I sit down to talk to the Rockville Gazette reporter, Louise Holler. As we talk, she tells me many interesting things about dear ole classmates.

It seems Jack Norman went straight from high school to Hollywood. He soon became an actor and was playing opposite stars such as Elizabeth Taylor and Stephanie Cummings.

I was happy to find out that Jon Warden, who was President of the United States, had finally settled his feud with the Premier of Russia, Eric Snowden. The cause of the feud was discovered by F.B.I. agent Carol Kent. It was Eric's missing set of bongos, which he accused Jon of stealing. Jon had shown great prejudice toward his former classmates by appointing Carol Brown, Nina Nelson, Pam Van Gilder, and Lynn Mann good will ambassadors to Russia. He also made Alice Staggs his private typist after she had achieved 165 words per minute.

I learned that our class had made a great contribution to the sports world. Gary Cooper was playing professional football for the "Rockville Royals" under coach George Finney. The 1968 Olympics had found Steve Nelson and Allen Barnes breaking the world's record in the contest, and Don Vaught took first prize in bubble-blowing. Rohm Thompson took the first three places in the weight lifting contest, but Steve Navel edged him out in the shot put.

In the international dancing contest Phyllis Swaim had received the highest honors for her ballet dancing, and Gary Shay had won top honors doing the "horse."

A great contribution to the world of science was also made by our class. The noted physicist Lowell Dragoo, along with his trusted assistant Larry Gossett, had invented an atomic tooth brush. Roy Reedy had conspired with Owen Loney, and had discovered a formula for "instant algebra". The commander at Cape Canaveral, Dan Kerr, had reported that the famous pilot Jim Bradburn had broken all altitude and speed records in his

Senior Class Prophecy Continued:

X15 jet plane. Dennis Kesterson and Don Gardner had just discovered how to grow oranges without seeds.

The fabulous dress designer Marvin Stewart, who had studied in Paris under professor Bob White, had designed many creations for prominent society women - Karen Poling, Nancy Swaim, and Linda Collier. His most famous was the "gownless evening strap."

I was pleased when Louise told me that several girls in our class had gone into business together and had become prominent business women. Sue Pogue, Ruth Ann Ross, and Evelyn Moore had become wealthy manufacturing "atom smashers." Carolyn Purcell had taken a job as secretary for a small town lawyer named Perry Mason.

Eddie Cloyd, Mike Mercer, Mike Herrick, Larry Reeder, and John Weaver had studied at Oxford University in England under the noted history professor Jack Bennett. After graduation they returned to America and became partners in a plush gambling resort. In the gambling room they had working for them "Dice" Newsom and "Black Jack" Morgan. Their main customers were the millionaire playboys Jim Millar and Ivan Augsburger. For their floor show they had the well-known comedian Mike Rookesberry, and the internationally known singing trio - Joe Parke, Jim Miller, and Bob McCord. Their chorus girls were Cathy Carr, Anne Wimmer, Janet Clark, and Julie Dearing.

As the evening went on, I was very much surprised when I found out that the entertainment for our reunion was being furnished by Bob Endres' Hep Band - Barbara Cook on the stick, Pat Pickett beatin' the skins, Shirley Sharer strummin' the bass, and Lois Kent on the trumpet.

I was happy to see all of my classmates again and to see that they had met with so much success. The evening had passed so quickly, and I had spent so much time talking to Louise that I had neglected my duties as janitor of the school.
